Foreword

IN THE YEAR OF A GREAT WORLD WAR, WE HAVE MET VARIED PROBLEMS, MANY SIMILAR TO THOSE WHICH THE ADULT WORLD HAS FACED. THESE HAVE BROUGHT US CLOSER TO THE REALITIES OF LIFE, AND MADE US AWARE OF THE PLEASANTNESS OF OUR CAREFREE SCHOOL LIFE. WE KNOW IT IS FOR SCHOOLS SUCH AS OURS, AND FOR ALL THAT MEANS MOST TO US, THAT THIS WAR IS BEING FOUGHT. SINCE IT IS REASONABLY CERTAIN THAT THE WORLD AFTER THIS WAR WILL BE DIFFERENT FROM THE ONE WE KNOW, WE WISH TO MAKE OUR BOOK A REVIEW IN PICTURES OF THE SCHOOL AT LARGE IN ITS FORMAL AND INFORMAL ACTIVITIES, RATHER THAN A CONVENTIONAL RECORDING OF EVERY INDIVIDUAL. WE HOPE THAT THIS BOOK WILL TELL THE STORY OF THE SCHOOL IN THE YEAR OF OUR GRADUATION.

MARGARET YOST

★ TO THE CLASS OF 1943 ★

As you leave the halls of your Alma Mater richer for the knowledge you have gained, the friendships you have found, the happy memories you now possess, and enter a world overshadowed by the gloom and depression of war, it is the sincere wish of your sponsors that you have the courage and spiritual strength to face the future with calmness and confidence. Hold fast to the knowledge that the disciplined life is bound to win. Remember that love is stronger than hate, faith greater than doubt. The words of Louis Pasteur to some young people at the Sorbonne might well present a challenge to the class of 1943: "Do not let yourselves be discouraged by the sadness of certain hours which pass over nations. Say to yourselves first: 'What have I done for my instruction?' And as you gradually advance, 'What have I done for my country?' until you may have the immense happiness of thinking that you have contributed in some way to the progress and good of humanity."

D E D I C A T I O N

THE TEACHERS WHO HAVE GUIDED US THROUGH THIS UNUSUAL YEAR, HAVE SEEMED ESPECIALLY CLOSE TO OUR CLASS; TO THEM WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK

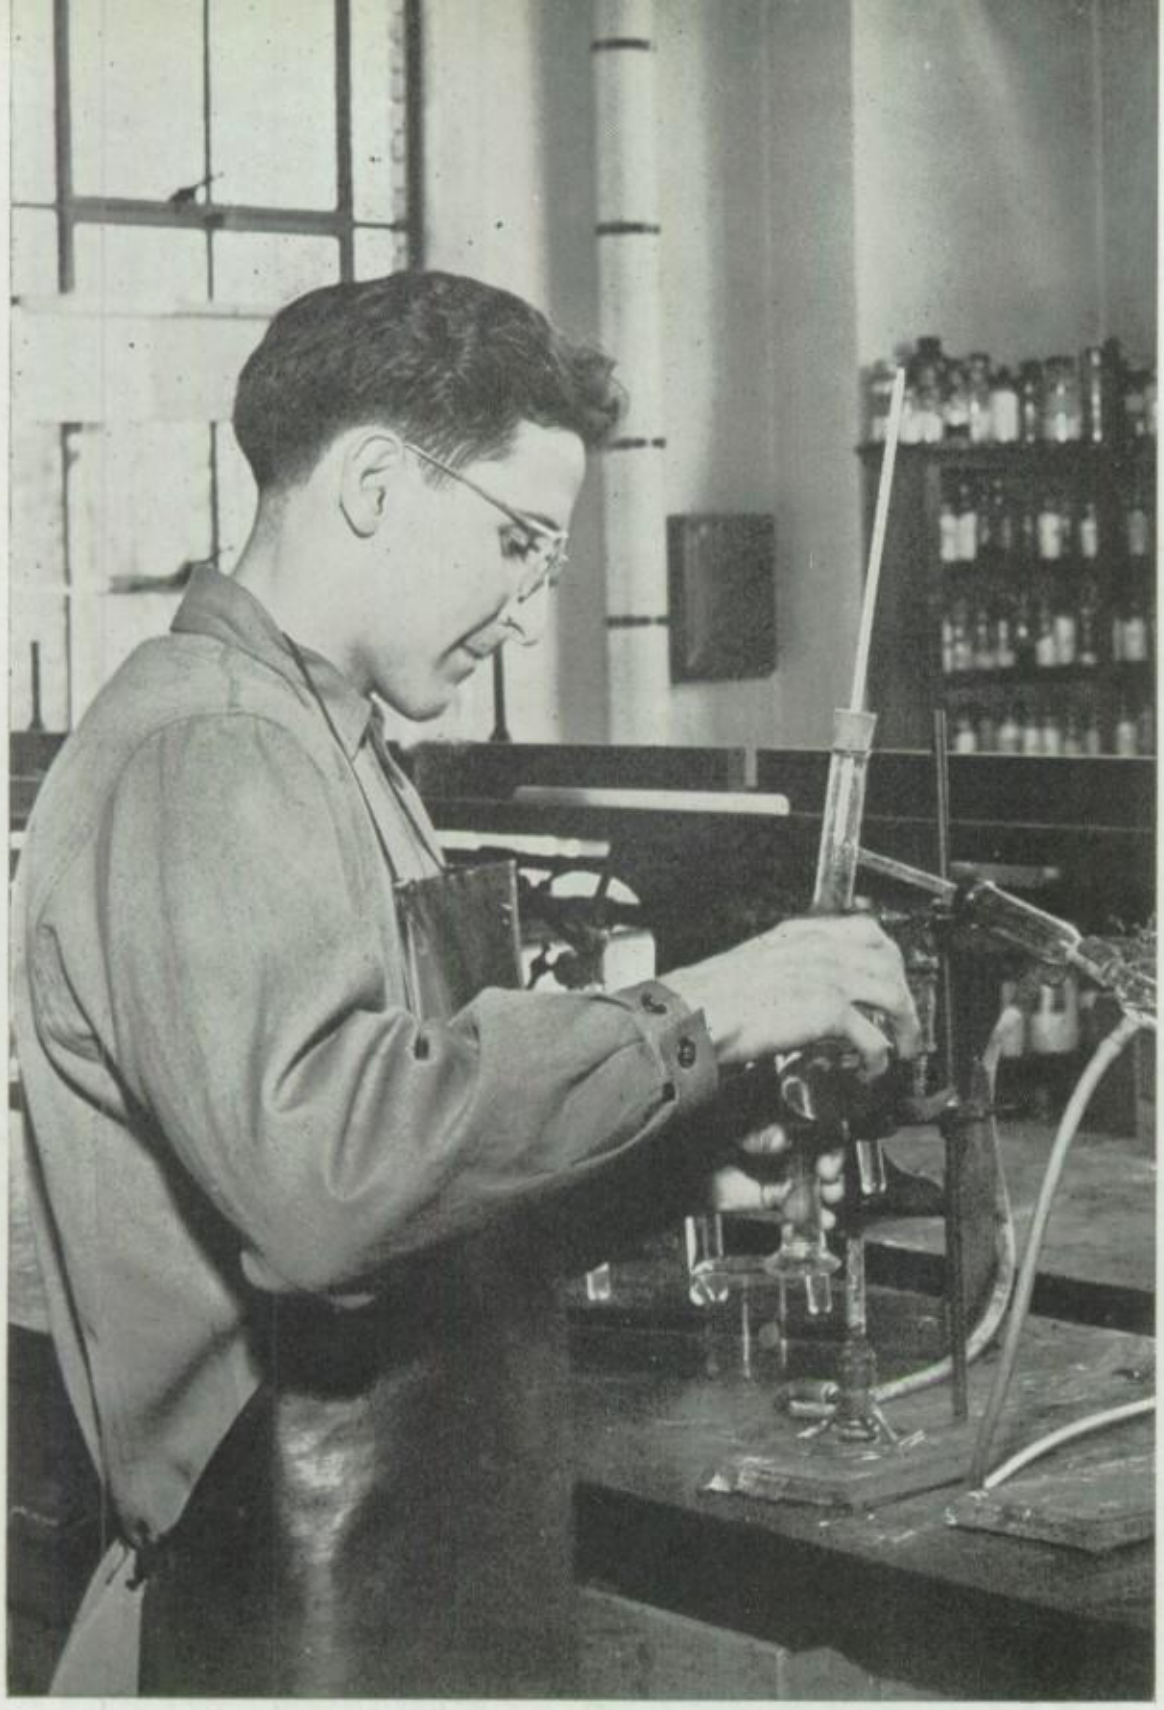
"Four Square Her Towers Rise"

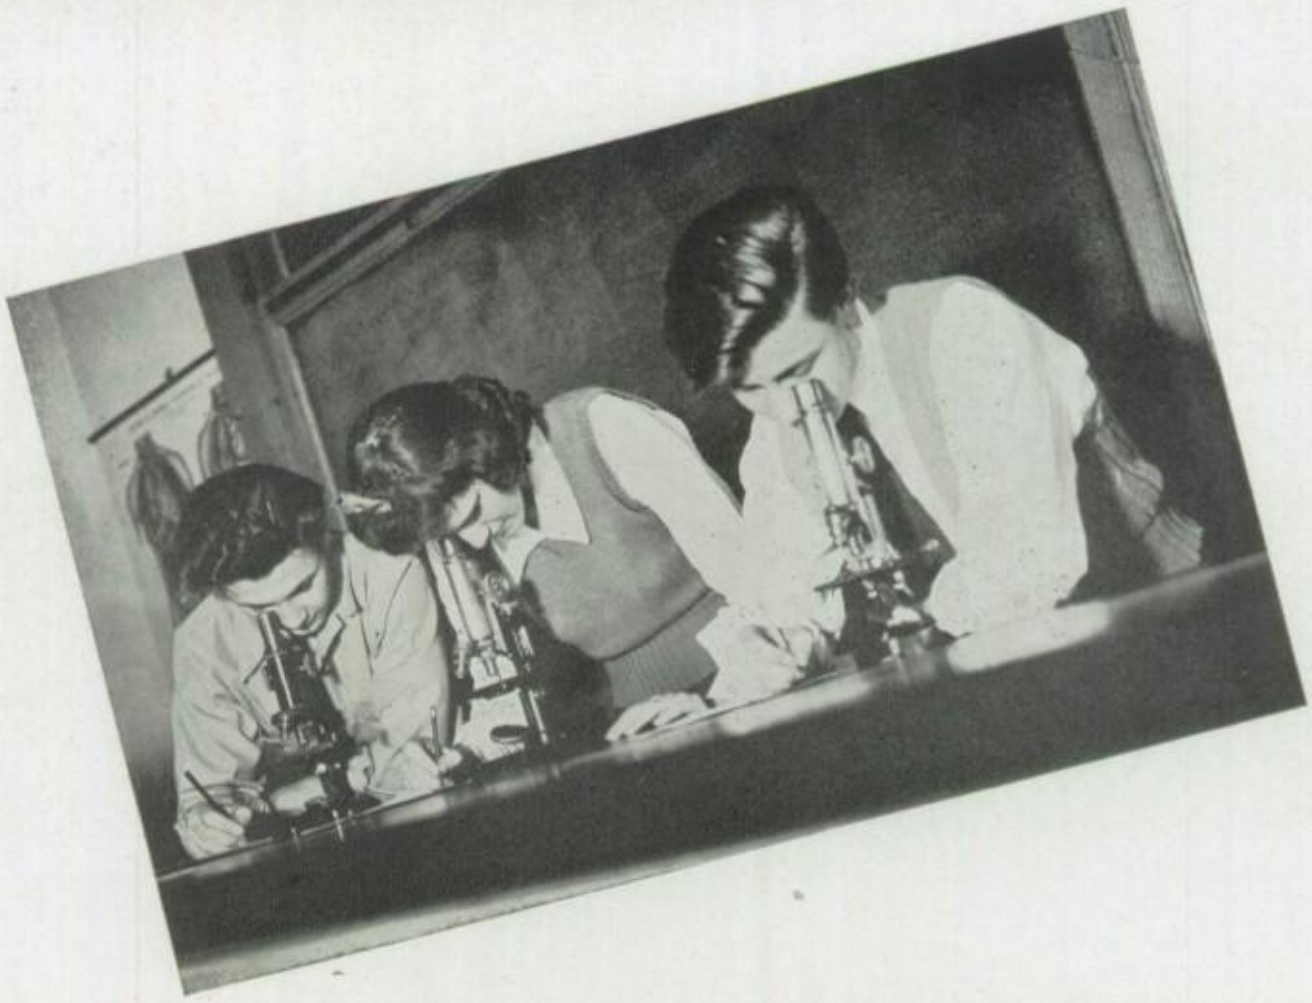


CHEMISTRY

The chemistry course covers a wide field. This year the influence of the war has brought an emphasis on high explosives used in combat. Boys get preliminary work to fit them for chemical warfare.

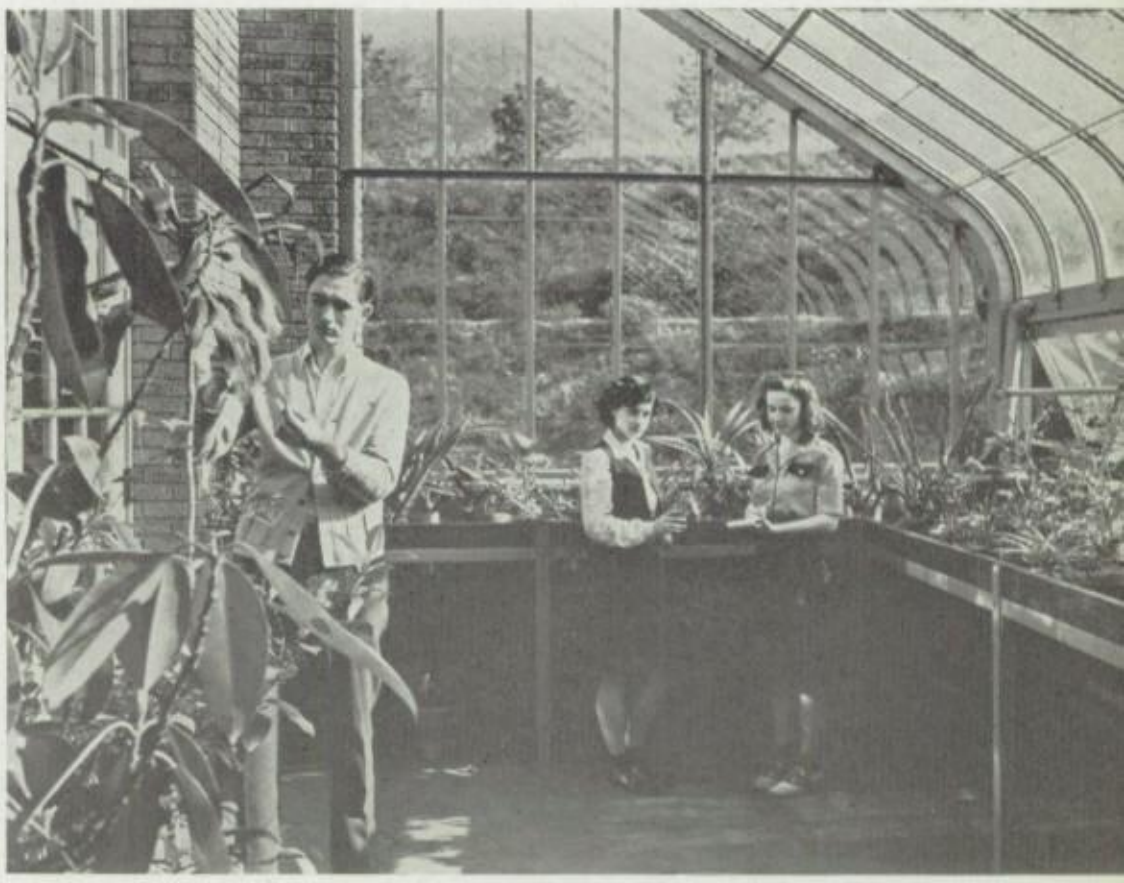
BIOLOGY

Physical fitness and nutrition have been stressed this year. Adjustments to the changes in everyday life have been considered from the scientific point of view.



PHYSICS

The study of the applications of natural laws is basic to the war effort. The school is following the advice of the national government in stressing physics.



BOTANY

This course has been modified to contribute to the wartime curriculum. During the year war gardens were started and foodstuffs grown.

ENGLISH

Preparation for college is the goal of one course; preparation for business, of another; a better understanding of the world the student lives in is the aim of units on how to read the newspaper and on Latin American culture in the general course.

SPANISH

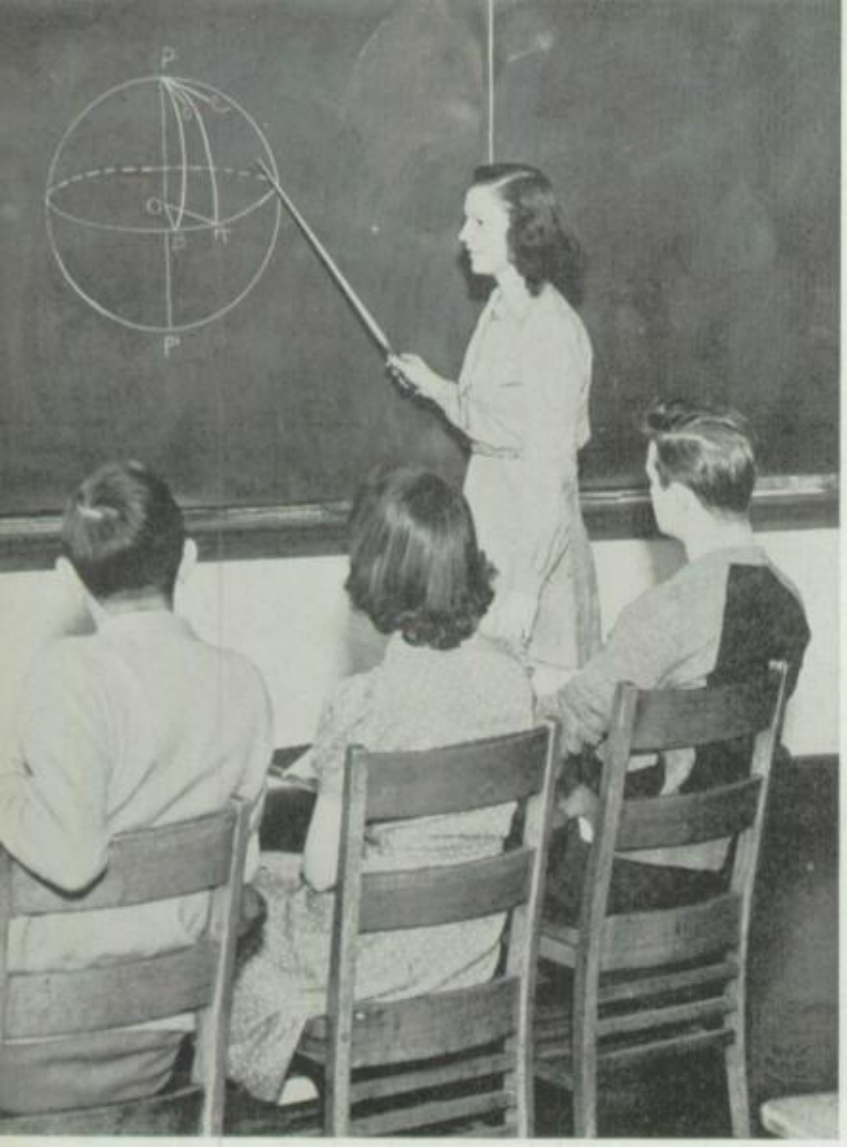
The study of this language has become a very popular three-year course. Students listen to Spanish radio programs and read the Spanish edition of "The Readers Digest." Pan American relations were stressed this year.

LIBRARY WORKSHOP

The members of the library club gain many-sided training in library techniques and give valuable service to the school as library assistants.

LIBRARY

At the sign of the book there is always friendly service.



MATHEMATICS

To help in preparing boys for the army and girls for industry, a course in general mathematics has been created to teach the elements of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry that underlie practical skills.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Discussions of Pan-American relations and a new unit on the air age are signs of the times in the history classes.

ART

The first year art course aims to uncover the student's bent in special fields such as commercial art, fine arts, or sculpture in which he may wish to specialize later.

RED AND BLACK

This weekly performs a service to the school at large by giving publicity to common problems, personalities, fads, and foibles of our own little world and beyond. The staff gains experience in interviewing, writing, editing.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

This is a new departure in the commercial curriculum. Enrollees spend three hours each day in school, acquiring commercial skills and three hours outside in actual store practice.

RED CROSS SEWING

This is a workshop course established to make articles of clothing for the needy in occupied countries. Large contributions have been made to the Red Cross.

HOME AND FAMILY

Girls registered in this course learn, among other things, how to take over the minor duties of a nurse in case of illness in the home. In this way they help to release nurses for active duty.

CLOTHING

Girls learn to make their own clothes, to make over old garments for younger members of the family, and to concoct costumes for pageants and plays.

THE SCHOOL CAFETERIA

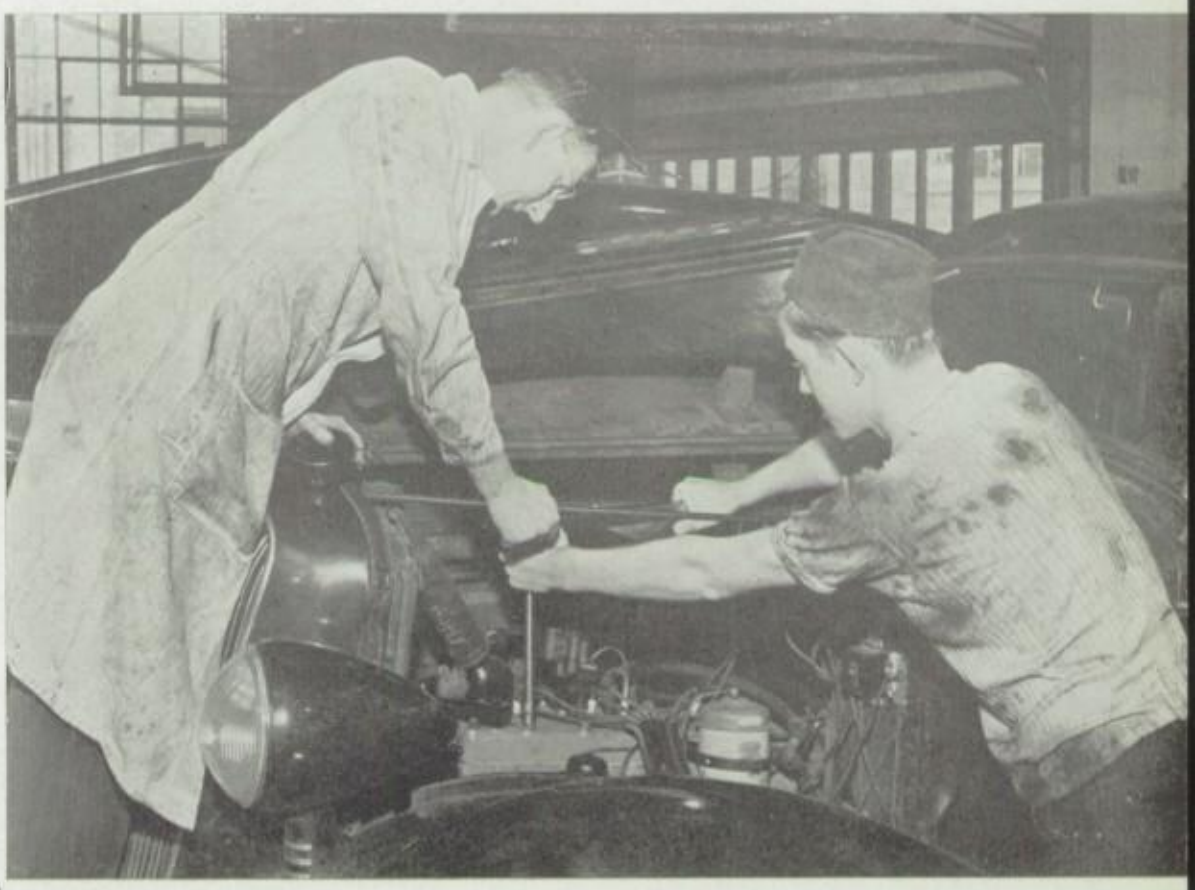
Here are behind-the-scene preparations to serve the 1200 pupils who patronize the school cafeteria each day. Rationing hasn't simplified the problem.

FOODS

To the regular training in cooking and serving, added attention has been given to nutrition and canteen service.

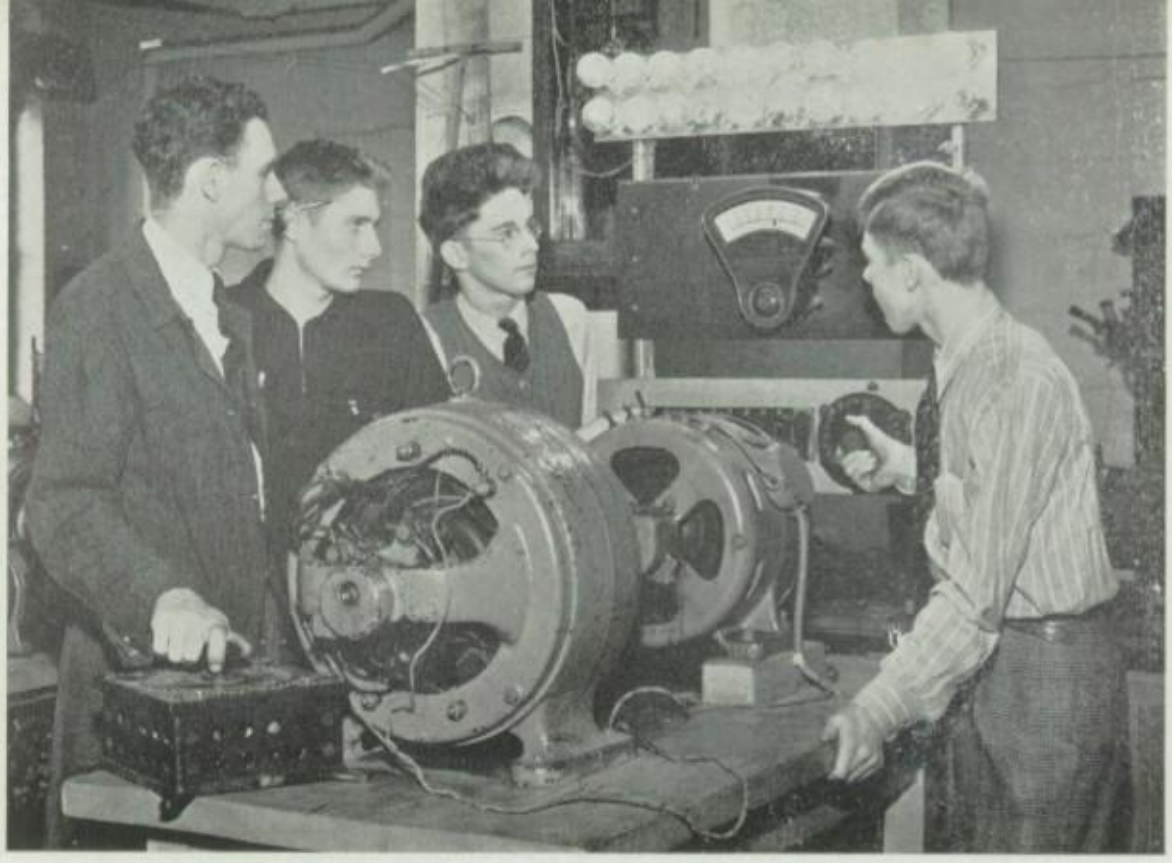
AUTO SHOP

Farmers benefit by getting their machines repaired by the enterprising student mechanics of this shop, which has priority rating as a garage.



MACHINE SHOP

Girls are the new note in machine shop this year. They have discovered that lathes and drill presses cease to be formidable when they know how.



ELECTRIC SHOP

More than the requirements for pre-army training are met by the boys studying the principles of electricity and their application to practical jobs.

WOOD SHOP

Training in all lines of carpentry enables boys to do repair jobs as well as to turn out really fine pieces of furniture. At the present time the air-minded have been constructing decorative model planes.

MECHANICAL DRAWING

For the first time in our school history, girls have been enrolled in this field. Their knowledge of blue prints will be an asset to war-geared industry.

PRINTING

In this course, the students get out the weekly paper, learn how to operate presses and linotype machines and to handle practical printing problems.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

SCHOOL DISTRICT MUSEUM AND ART GALLERY

PRINCIPAL— JOHN H. EISENHAUER

Only a short time ago the Arxalma used as its theme a glorification of roads, with special reference to the roads from the Statue of Liberty to the Golden Gate. We wrote then about the freedom enjoyed as we traveled across our beloved land, and of the beauty of the scenery. Today we are concerned with the problem of maintaining that freedom and that beauty. It is well, therefore, that you should make your contribution a record of our school in the year of your graduation.

You will no doubt want to remember the emphasis being placed upon the adaptation of the curriculum to the preparation of boys for possible service in the armed forces of our country. And you, girls, for the maintenance of a high morale on the home front. As for us, we shall be most happy as we see you progress in the years that lie ahead.

WILLIAM L. FINK Vice Principal

Our little party was traveling to the summit of Pike's Peak. At a turn in the road, we paused beside a yucca bush to survey the spacious skies, the amber grain, and the majestic mountains about which Katharine Lee Bates had sung. These we too admired; but we were equally impressed by the winding, ribbon-like roads that had carried us through valley and over hill to our present point of vantage. Truly, the panorama was pleasing.

Members of the Class of 1943, you are wise to have recorded in this book events that characterized your school life during a period destined to be significant in our country's history. When, in the future, you stand upon a pinnacle of the years, may this record help you to look back in pleasant retrospect to the days you spent here at the Castle. But keep climbing! May there be for each one of you pleasant prospects ahead.

FLORENCE B. BEITENMAN Vice Principal

My hope for the class of 1943 is this: That, from your study of the past and the present, you have grasped firmly the thought that certain fine things are permanent in this tough old world.

You are born into a tremendous period. Whether you wish it or not, you must live up to the very limit of your powers. It is not always a comfortable nor a happy situation, but it is a necessary one—this piece of life at its highest pitch.

What endures now through all the mess created by power-hungry leaders? The same things that endured through the conquests of Alexander, Caesar, Tamerlane, Napoleon — friendship, family ties, love of beauty, persistence, pleasure in honest labor, courage, daring.

Material things may disappear; nothing can take from the human spirit the qualities, the tastes, the appreciation that make life worth living.

FOOTBALL

With coaches Rock, Harris, and Billinger in the services of Uncle Sam, and an entirely new string of recruits, the season looked fairly dark for the Red Knight Gridders. But out of the darkness popped Andy Stopper, Johnny Smith, and Bill Horine to build up a powerful team which made the colors of Reading High shine.

Starting the season off with a 33-0 win over Patton Trade, the Reading boys looked as though they were going to win the Conference title, but over-confidence caused their defeat in the next four games, all against powerful opponents. However, the Knights came back determined to make their next opponents the under-dogs. This they did, too, with scores almost as smashing as those of the Patton Trade game.

Although it would have been impossible to win without the full cooperation of the entire team, the booting of "Wedge" Daron, the center plunges of "Bob" Dunkelberger, and the end sweeps of the other backfield men cannot go unmentioned. The performance of the backfield together with the brilliant playing of the line really held up the standards which were set by previous Reading High Teams.

BASKETBALL

Although Coach Johnny Smith was called into the service of Uncle Sam before the end of the season, the Red and Black Basketeers came through with a tie for first place with two other teams. They were willing to let it stand a tie; so no one lost out. Paced by the brilliant passing of Williams and the topnotch shooting of Wickel, the Knights rumped through the season, leaving a long string of victories in their wake. Playing fifteen games and winning ten of these, the Knights continued to make the name of Reading High School shine in the basketball world.

DONNY Being president of the senior class is just one of Don's jobs. He also leads the Marching Band with the zest of a maestro. Of course, his contagious smile and keen blue eyes help to make him a popular fellow.

VICKY Vicky's that one girl out of ten as efficient as she is pretty. If you're eager to learn new dance steps, come to Vicky. She knows them all. Friendly as a puppy, she is one of the best-liked lasses at the Castle.

LEONARD If he's not day-dreaming of Rita Hayworth, he's cracking crazy jokes. He is the latest edition of Esquire. Besides being the spark plug of the cheerleading team, he is always bombarding us with dynamic ideas.

JUNIE Handling G.R. is no joke, but you can depend on her; she has the charm and the personality to carry it through. Roll smart clothes, neatness, and intelligence into one, and you will have our own versatile Junie.

"For Us, The Living"

A pageant designed to show what, in the past, points the way to the patterns of conduct which all of us must exhibit in the present to further the basic aims of the American way of life.

INTRODUCTION

The Theme Stated:

The Doe Family: "The nerve of that fellow—saying we haven't got the stuff to win!"

Mural of the men of Concord and Lexington: "They had been drilling for weeks."

Paul Revere; the signal in Old North Church, Boston: "On guard, Sir."

The Minutemen: "The British didn't take them by surprise."

The Robert Morris Action: "No one guaranteed him his money back, with one-third profit in ten years."

The Minuet, Morris' guests.

The Nathan Hale Mural: "Just a regular fellow, who gave his life—."

Mural of the Westward Movement: "It took plenty of endurance—."

Clara Barton Action, Bordentown, N. J., May, 1861: "The regular medical corps is far too small a group to care for all the wounded."

The Benefit Ball: "There are other ways in which you can help."

The Chaplain McCabe Action, Washington, February 2, 1864: "He often sang to the men in Libby Prison when they were discouraged."

I S B O R N

School Mural: "That little schoolhouse got us started on the right track."

The Mark Twain Action: "Twain had Hank make the most of his comedy of errors."

A June 21st in the sixth century; at the Court of King Arthur.

Alexander Graham Bell Mural—Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia, 1876: "His work made the life of many a handicapped person broader and happier."

The Jane Addams Mural: "America helps all of these—young, old, poor, native, or foreign-born to help themselves."

The George M. Cohan theme: "He loved his country—and he loved music."

The Knute Rockne Action: "Great sportsmen showed them how to play and fight, clean and fair."

Girls' physical fitness: "Girls' activities have kept pace with the boys'."

The Alvin York Action: "He knew that he must fight to preserve his ideals."

Mural of the Mountain Meeting: "There was something worth fighting for."

The Lieutenant-General Mark Clark Action: "If an American says he will come, he will come."

"For Us, the Living": "The Tableau of Strength and Hope."

The Services—foreign and domestic, military and civilian: "We've got something here. It's bigger than you or I. But we're part of it. It is for us, the living to take up the unfinished work—."

The mood of each scene is interpreted by descriptive music.
